

Railway Worker Signaling :

A Rail Worker Signaling works in the rail industry

He must have a solid understanding of circuitry, electronic rail devices, communication systems, and general machinery used on railroads.

Duties :

- * the main task is carrying out excavation works such as:
 - digging pits or trenches and helping the construction site operators
 - digging cable trays and cable routing -pulling the cables through the cable trays
- * preparation work for the electricians: fitting electrical installations on the traction poles
- * you may work outdoors on freight and passenger train tracks, as well as underground on subway lines
- * you may be required to work irregular hours. The work can be dangerous, due to environmental conditions, transportation safety and medium/ high voltage equipment

Profile :

- * you have experience with:
 - assembly work, no fear of heights (10-15 meters)
 - experience with the execution of excavations
- * You are in a physical good shape
- * You have at least basic knowledge of electricity
- * You like working outside
- * You have no problem with working in shifts , at night or during weekends
- * Experience as a railway worker is needed
- * You are able to communicate in English
- * You're willing to follow Dutch course
- * You're willing to follow VCA course to obtain required certificate

Offer :

- Stable job with attractive salary - You work full-time from Monday to Friday - a lot of weekend work - extra bonuses

Salary package :

- + Starts at 13,93 €/h and up
- + Meal vouchers 5 euro/day
- + Night premium of 25 %
- + Saturday Bonus of + 50%
- + Sunday Bonus of + 100 %
- + Transport refund training on the floor

Interested ?

Send us your resume in ENGLISH to international.mobility@adecco.be with reference : RAILWAY WORKER SIGNALING