

National Reference Number: 8696629

As an international company within the lighting industry XAL connects innovative design with the latest technology. Our lighting solutions are just as sustainable as aesthetic and premium functional - a concept which is successful worldwide. XAL has subsidiaries in the US, Europe and Asia as well as a global partner network. Currently, our team consists of about 1200 employees. We are currently looking for support for our office in Barcelona.

1 Senior Lighting Engineer (m/f) - Barcelona

- Your responsibilities:

- Independently working on engineering projects as well as leading projects in your department
- Development and construction of new lighting systems by using 2D and 3D design programs
- Development of special luminaires based on individual customer requirements
- Detailed engineering of luminaires up to the final transmission into serial manufacturing
- Creation of construction drawings, parts lists and working schedules
- Answering technical questions of other departments such as production and final assembly
- Supporting the production of prototypes, the preparation of assembly instructions as well as product documentations

- Your profile:

- Successfully completed (higher) technical education
- At least three years working experience within the lighting industry
- Good knowledge of 3D-CAD design programs, Solid Edge will be a bonus
- Good knowledge of English and Spanish
- Creative in and passionate about solving technical problems
- Enthusiastic about architecture, design and lighting technique
- Excellent analytical, planning and communication skills
- Self-motivated and a good team player

- Our proposition:

We offer an exciting, fast paced environment in an expanding, international company. The position is geared towards a long-term working relationship. Furthermore, you can expect to take the following benefits:

- Performance-related pay
- Possible International Career advancement
- Professional and personal development in the XAL Academy
- Social events: teambuilding, events

Applications to: XAL GmbH - zH Elisabeth Praschl, MA
Auer-Welsbach-Gasse 36
A-8055 Graz
application@xal.com

We look forward to receiving your application (www.xal.com)